

What's Next in Medical Devices

The NJ Tech Council will feature presentations focusing on new medical devices being developed by university and college researchers or at medical devices companies in the region. A panel focusing on challenges and opportunities in developing medical devices will be offered along with a networking reception after the presentations.

Companies and universities interested in submitting a presentation should go to www.surveymonkey.com/r/J5RD627

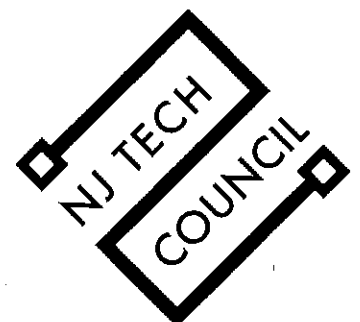

Deadline for submissions is May 25th at 11 pm.
