Dharm Patel will be joining GlaxoSmithKline as Director, Global Value, Evidence, & Outcomes - Specialty on Oct 1. Dharm was most recently at LEO Pharma where he was the Senior Manager, US HEOR supporting the immuno-dermatology portfolio. In this role, Dharm was responsible for executing pre-launch HEOR activities for LEO's first biologic, tralokinumab for atopic dermatitis, including value proposition/dossier development, field tools, advisory boards, payer interactions, and HEOR studies. Previously, he supported the psoriasis franchise as Manager, Scientific Affairs. Dharm received his PhD in Molecular Biosciences with a certificate in Pharmaceutical and Clinical Trial Management from Rutgers University - New Brunswick, and BS in Biology from Monmouth University. At Rutgers, Dharm was part of the inaugural iJOBS trainee cohort, a student of the Biotechnology Training Program, and completed his thesis work in the lab of Dr. Samuel Bunting.
